

A Message from the Finance Program

Thank you to so many of you for your support of the finance program at BYU. From hosting, mentoring, and hiring students, to donating money, there are so many things BYU alumni do to make the program great. Without you, the program would be a shadow of what it is.

We hope you enjoy this update about what's happening in the program. We welcome your involvement, so please let us know if you have ways you would like to give back. And we hope to see many of you at our alumni BBQ in late September!

Career Paths in Corporate Finance Summit

On March 24, 2023, the finance department hosted a Career Paths in Corporate Finance Summit. More than 30 professionals helped plan and host the event for students interested in learning about careers in corporate finance. Held in the Hinckley Center, the summit drew more than 114 students. Three breakout sessions highlighted career possibilities in various aspects of the industry, including FP&A (financial planning and analysis), treasury, and investor relations.

All participants gathered to hear from the summit's keynote address presented by Monica Stallings, a professor at NYU Stern. Professor Stallings reflected on her personal experiences and shared 10 incredible nuggets of wisdom that are applicable at all stages of one's career. Students and professionals were inspired by her address.

The Summit concluded with a networking lunch where the students could visit and network with the event organizers who represented companies from all around the country including 1-800 Contacts, Adobe, AwardCo, Boeing, Davita, Degreed, Dell, Disney, LVT, Microsoft, PNC, Stryker, Sunrun, Thread Wallets, and Walmart.

We are sincerely grateful for all the professionals that participated in what we hope to establish as an annual event. The students came away with a clearer vision of the many incredible opportunities in the corporate finance world.

Europe Study Abroad

During spring term, Troy Carpenter directed a real estate study abroad program to western Europe with 10 students. Students learned from a variety of real estate professionals in France, UK, Netherlands, and Germany. They met with firms in their offices to discuss several real estate issues in many of the European markets. In each city, the students also participated in several property tours including multi-family communities, offices, and retail and industrial sectors.

Our finance department would once again like to thank the gracious hosts who met our students and gave them such a valuable experience: Matteo Capello of Invesco in Paris; Rob Trevor at CBRE Investment Management in London; Justin Hildebrandt, Timber van Tilburg, and Sabine Bentvelzen of Affinius Capital in Amsterdam; and Henrik Haeuszler of Invesco in Munich.

NetTrek Information

Networking trips (or NetTreks) continue to be a key component of the finance program and enable students to visit firm offices and interact with professionals in their environment. The largest of these trips happened in May when we took roughly 100 students to New York to meet with about 50 employers from finance fields including investment banking, private equity, asset management, private wealth management, and real estate.

The vast majority of firms were gracious enough to host us in their offices, and many alumni attended a networking dinner one evening, allowing students to make valuable connections. The amazing alumni and friends of the university made this trip possible, and we express our sincere gratitude to them for their continued support.

Real estate, private equity, and corporate finance students also recently participated in NetTrek in Dallas, Northern California, and along the Wasatch Front. This fall, NetTrek trips will be offered in Phoenix, Dallas, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and along the Wasatch Front.

If you are interested in hosting a NetTrek group at your company in any of the above locations, please fill out the Alumni Engagement Form or email Tanya Harmon (tharmon@byu.edu) or Troy Carpenter (troy_carpenter@byu.edu).

How to Get Involved

We are grateful for everything that so many of you already do. Thank you!

We welcome your help. We need your help. Most importantly, students need your help. We want you to do things that will connect you more meaningfully to BYU Marriott finance students. These two actions are the most helpful: donating and interacting with students.

Not everyone can do both of these things all the time. But when you do a bit more in each of these areas, your interest and investment in the students and the program will automatically increase, and student outcomes will improve.

- Donate. It's not about receiving your money—it's about receiving your commitment and assisting our students in ways we otherwise wouldn't be able to.

You can donate by clicking below and choosing the Pay It Forward Fund. This fund directly supports finance students, which enhances their experience within the finance program.

DONATE

Donated funds help train student leaders, support student travel, provide networking meals and student recognition/incentives, and much more. Money is a challenge in most organizations, and the finance program is no exception. We are grateful for even the smallest amount! You can set up a recurring donation, and your donation is tax deductible.

- Interact with students. As students interact with inspiring alumni already working in finance, they become more likely to experience good career and life outcomes.

Let us know how you would like to be involved by completing the engagement form found on the alumni page of the finance website. Click the button below for details and to select your areas of interest.
