- Experience Design and Management Conference Co-Director 2012-2018
  - Starting in 2012 Brian Hill, a colleague in my department, and I began work to develop an annual department sponsored conference for current students, alumni, academics from other institutions and professionals interested in experience design. This event has increased in size each year to where it now has around 100 attendees each year from a wide variety of industries. The conference has led to internship and jobs for students as well as networking opportunities for alumni and faculty.
